COUGARS FOR WOMEN
IN CONSTRUCTION

2021 SPONSOR INFORMATION

WELCOME !

We want to thank you for your interest in supporting Cougars for Women in Construction (CWIC). CWIC is a student organization sponsored by the Construction Department at the University of Houston's College of Technology. Cougars for Women in Construction was established with the intention to encourage the growth of women in the construction industry and share its passion for support with the UH community.

Our goal at CWIC is to support and raise awareness of the impact women have in the construction industry and to empower our members with knowledge that will help them stand out in the industry. We hope to prepare the future leaders of the construction industry by integrating a diverse network with industry professionals, providing skill-building workshops, and building a community.

During our inaugural year, we plan on dedicating ourselves to these initiatives. With the contributions received, CWIC will work towards its mission of supporting the success of women in construction. We intend to use the funds to create scholarships for members, purchase material needed for skills workshops, host appreciation events, sponsor events during national women in construction week, volunteer events, and other miscellaneous costs that will support our mission.

This year our fundraising goal is $ 10,000. Any contribution, whether monetary or in-kind, is welcomed and greatly appreciated. All funds will be used to support the growth of women in construction. If you would like more information on our mission and goals contribution opportunities, please email us at cwic@uh.edu

We appreciate your interest.
